LIBRARY NEWS

Look on the New Book Shelf for...

1. "Her Majesty \(The Court of Queen Elizabeth II\)". This is a "must read" during this Jubilee Anniversary year. Robert Hardman paints an intimate portrait of England's soon-to-be longest reigning queen, in celebration of her diamond jubilee – and the first-ever book interview with her grandson, Prince William.

History has known no monarch like her. She has traveled farther than all her predecessors put together and lived longer than any of them. She has known more historic figures than anyone alive – from Churchill to Mandela, de Gaulle to Obama.

She is one of the most popular public figures on earth.

Not only has Elizabeth II reigned through Britain's transformation from an imperial power to a multi-cultural nation, but she has also steered the monarchy through more reforms in the last twenty-five years than in the previous century.

Queen Elizabeth II sits at the head of an ancient institution that remains simultaneously popular, regal, inclusive, and relevant in a twenty-first century world. It is down to neither luck nor longevity: it is down to the shrewd judgement of a thoroughly modern monarch – with no small assistance from the longest-serving consort in history. Here is the inside story.

A great read for the Victoria Day weekend with 16 pages of colour illustrations.

2. "Limpopo Academy of Private Detection" by Alexander McCall Smith. In this latest installment of the bestselling No. 1 Ladies Detective series, Precious Ramotswe has her hands full. She is called to tackle a disciplinary problem at a local school. Mysteries involving children are always difficult . And, in this case, it is complicated by the fact that it is in her adopted daughter's school. Add to that the fact that Grace Makutsi, her trusted assistant is having troubles adjusting wedded bliss and it is very fortunate that the ladies finally meet for the first time their mentor, the estimable Clovis Anderson, author of their personal manual "Principles of Private Investigation" who has arrived in Botswana on a case. All this and bush tea too – life is indeed rich in Botswana. Enjoy.

- Fans of Lisa Scottoline will enjoy "Come Home". This time the author of several taut thrillers looks at motherhood. This is a riveting story of a mother who sacrifices her future for a child from her past If you enjoy this one, then you might also want to read "Save Me", "Look Again" and "Think Twice" by the same author. These are also good reads.
- And last, but not least (as they say) for all the outdoors people we have "100 Hikers 100 Hikes – from Tobermory to Kilimanjaro" by Andrew Camani 796.51CAM. Hikers have always been inspired by the wonders of nature's diverse landscapes. Here we have a collection of 100 stories from various backgrounds, professions and lifestyles. Lace up your virtual hiking boots and journey across mountains, savannahs, canyons and deserts. Great photos too!

May the 4th is Pi Day.

May the fourth be with you. LOL
